“Do you want someone to sign up? Show up? Give? Serve? Share? Accept Jesus as their Savior? It’s going to take effective communication to help them take action.

The words you use, the way things look, timing, tone, and strategy all play a crucial role in whether your message is heard or ignored.”

- Phil Bowdle, Rethink Communication (2019)

Who are we trying to reach?

- Be specific.
- What language do they speak?
- What platforms do they use?
- What's important to them?

What are we trying to say?

- Tell the story of your church, event, service, etc.
- “What’s in it for me?”
- Key messages: simple, short
 - Tailor them to your audience(s)

How we communicate

- Consider what channels you have
 - Emails
 - Newsletter
 - Sunday morning announcements
 - Notice boards
 - Facebook
 - Indoor & outdoor signage
- Who do you reach with each one?
- What are they looking for?

Social media

- Ability to reach people who don't already know us
 - People whose names we don't know, whose email addresses we don't have
- Relies on core Anglican audience to click and share
- Exciting opportunities
- Remember: different channels reach different people

Diocese provides matching grants for refugee sponsorship

Posted on January 19, 2016

By Stuart Mann

Parishes in the Diocese of Toronto can now apply for funds from the diocese to help them sponsor refugees.

The diocese, which has earmarked $500,000 for refugee work, will make the money available to parishes in the form of matching grants.

Diocesan Council approved how the funds will be disbursed at a meeting on Jan. 16. The funds are a tithe from the diocese's Ministry Allocation Fund.

The maximum grant a parish can receive will be based on its annual revenue. Parishes with total annual income of less than $250,000 may apply for a grant of up to 50% of the total cost of the sponsorship; parishes with income between $250,000 and $500,000 may apply for up to 35% of the total cost; and parishes with income greater than $500,000 may apply for up to 15% of the total cost.

For parishes with income above $500,000, the amount of financial assistance requested from the diocese should be for a more ambitious sponsorship – in particular, the number of family members being

Diocese provides matching grants for refugee sponsorship

BY STUART MANN

PARISHES can now apply for funds from the diocese to help them sponsor refugees. The diocese, which has earmarked $500,000 for refugee work, will make the money available in the form of matching grants.

Diocesan Council approved how the funds will be disbursed at a meeting on Jan. 16. The funds are a tithe from the diocese's Ministry Allocation Fund.

The maximum grant a parish can receive will be based on its annual revenue. Parishes with total annual income of less than $250,000 may apply for a grant of up to 50 per cent of the total cost of the sponsorship; parishes with income between $250,000 and $500,000 may apply for up to 35 per cent of the total cost; and parishes with income greater than $500,000 may apply for up to 15 per cent of the total cost.

For parishes with income above $500,000, the amount of financial assistance requested from the diocese should be for a more ambitious sponsorship – in particular, the number of family members being sponsored – than would otherwise be undertaken by the parish.

The matching grants and funding formula are intended to provide opportunities for the greatest number of parishes to actively participate in refugee sponsorship while also ensuring that the greatest number of refugees are being assisted to come to Canada.

Although consideration was given to the possibility of directing some of the funds to support overseas work with refugees, such as through the Primate's World Relief and Development Fund, it was felt that the extension of the federal government's matching funding for donations to programs in Syria decreased the potential impact of the tithe, and that the limited amount of funds would be better directed to the practical engagement offered through refugee sponsorship.

The diocese will work closely with AURA (the Anglican-United Refugee Alliance,) a FaithWorks ministry and the official sponsorship agreement holder for the Diocese of Toronto, in implementing the matching grants program.

Parishes wishing to access the funds will be asked to demonstrate that, apart from lacking adequate funds to fully fund a sponsorship, they meet all other basic requirements set out by AURA, including the existence of a steering committee, proper screening for all volunteers, and participation in AURA's training programs.

The funds will be used to assist refugees not only from the Middle East but from other parts of the globe, such as Africa and Asia. While the focus may be primarily on Syrian refugees, there are refugees throughout the world who are eligible to come to Canada if local groups are prepared and able to sponsor them.

There will be two rounds of applications. The initial round of applications is due by March 15, 2016. Following this, if funds remain, a second round of applications would be invited, with a deadline of May 15, 2016. Applications are available on the diocese's website, www.toronto.anglican.ca. Completed applications should be emailed to rweston@toronto.anglican.ca or by mail to the attention of Ryan Weston, Diocese of Toronto, 135 Adelaide St. E., Toronto, Ontario M5C 1L8.

As of Jan. 9, 59 parishes in the diocese were taking part in or interested in taking part in refugee sponsorships. Parishes were in the process of sponsoring 37 refugees, of which four families had already arrived.

Social media strategy

- Articulates what we're trying to achieve
- Includes goals for particular platforms, and strategies & tactics to achieve those goals
- Links our social media activity to our vision, mission & values

Sample social media goals

- Portray the Diocese as diverse, dynamic and engaged in the wider world.
- Invite or inspire seekers to connect with their local Anglican church.
- Support our churches' efforts to proclaim the Gospel on social media.
- Develop online connections with the wider Anglican community.

What we need: a plan

- High-level strategy
 - See all the moving pieces
- Smaller plans for specific events or initiatives
 - Parish anniversary, Advent, stewardship campaign, fun fair
- Daily/weekly schedule
 - Know what's coming, plan ahead, space out posts
- Who? When? How? How often?

What we need: content

- What's already available?
 - Sermons, bulletin announcements
 - Decide what to give higher profile
- What can you adapt?
 - Prayers from the BAS or BCP
 - A poster on a bulletin board, or a sign outside the church
- What do you need to create?
 - Images for social media

What we need: time

- The biggest challenge!
- Who can help create and post content?
- What tools can make you more efficient?
 - Scheduling and monitoring tools like Hootsuite, Tweetdeck

What we need: flexibility

- Adapt content for different platforms
 - What works on one won't work on another
- Be spontaneous
 - If you find the perfect post for today, be willing to reschedule things
 - Easy to do when you have a schedule
- Learn as you go
 - Rethink strategy and tactics if something isn't working
 - Research and try out new tools

Facebook

- Share links, photos, events
- Reach people who already know us (and their friends)
 - As posts are shared, we can reach a wider audience
- Robust metrics
 - Anything you ever wanted to know
 - Track who you're reaching & how
- Targeted ads
 - No minimum budget
 - Focus on specific geographic areas

Facebook: What works?

- News about us
- Something people are proud of
- Something people are curious about
- Appeals to core audience

Lord, make us instruments of your peace. Where there is hatred, let us sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is discord, union; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; where there is sadness, joy. #RemembranceDay

Dos & Don'ts

Do:

- Tell stories
- Include visuals
- Develop a voice
 - e.g. fresh and friendly; professional but enthusiastic
- Connect with people
- Measure & track your results
- Take calculated risks
 - Try something unexpected or surprising
 - Make sure it fits with your goals and audiences
- Keep of track of passwords

Dos & Don'ts

Don't:

- Make it all about your church all the time
 - Can get boring
 - What's happening in the world around you?
- Try to say too much
 - People stop reading
- Use churchy jargon
 - Depending on your audience
- Try to reach everyone on every channel
- Say yes to everything
 - You don't have to use every platform

How the diocese can help
